

Unknown

From: frank bailey [ftb907@yahoo.com]

Sent: Friday, June 06, 2008 5:19 PM

To: Sarah Palin; kellyc@acsalaska.net; Perry; Kristina Y (GOV); ivyfrye@yahoo.com; Todd Palin; Leighow; Sharon W (GOV)

Subject: Palin vetoes appear safe from override

Here's the follow up

<http://www.adn.com/news/alaska/story/428765.html>

The Associated Press

Published: June 6th, 2008 04:03 PM

Last Modified: June 6th, 2008 04:05 PM

JUNEAU - Gov. Sarah Palin's budget vetoes appear safe from a legislative override.

Several high-ranking lawmakers say the chances to get 45 out of 60 lawmakers to support an override are just about gone.

Lawmakers still have until 11:59 p.m. Saturday to override some or all of Palin's $268 million capital budget cuts.

This morning, a special session hearing on a gas line proposal was delayed an hour while members of the House and Senate discussed their options, but they could not agree on what projects should be put back on the books.

By the time hearings resumed, members of the finance committees said their best effort had come up short.

ROSTON 02582

10/14/2009