Dear Sarah:

Humbly, and yes, I did shed a few tears of joy and maybe a sense of loss as I watched this past couple weeks as our Governor Sarah has taken on America and will soon be leaving Alaska. I watch with hope and optimism that she's doing the right thing as she's jumping into the politics that have been untapped by any Alaska politician... yes, our Sarah, our Governor Palin is a candidate for the Vice-President of the United States. It's almost unbelievable, but I'm personally embracing her enthusiasm. No, it's not because she's a woman, it's not because she's beautiful...it's because it's what we need now in America.

Alaska's been touched Sarah's beliefs and it's only Alaskan to share her wisdom, courage and strength... we've been awed by Mrs. Palin, or politically, Ms. Palin.. we've watched as the media has tried to attack any corner or crumb of her and her family and regardless of it, I'm proud, I'm proud I'm Alaskan.

Governor Palin has taken the bull by the horns and off she goes.... She sees the impact of the economic crisis on Alaska and now America and she's moving...she sees the how desperate folks are trying to keep food on the table and the lights on and she's sharing the wealth...isn't that what Alaskans do? Regardless of how the next 60 days shake out – let's applaud her guts, her glory, her wisdom -- Alaska's making history today and Sarah, we thank you.

God Bless you and your family,

Cindy, Ramon and RoxAnn Roque Dillingham/Seattle, WA (206-733-0360)

(PS --- I'm in "America" and would love to host your campaign in Roslyn, Washington (where Northern Exposure was filmed --- it's my hometown)... the big guys at the fancy resort have offered to do a fundraiser for you--- and the town of loggers, miners and working people that have been consumed by big business want to meet you because you're too good to be true! Please try to add us to your campaign trail!
