thank you. don't forget: let's use your personal email for all this.

kris is going to touch base with you soon here. taylor (mccain campaign communications guru in anchorage) and i are going to be heading out to your home in a little bit and to the heath home. what do you need? we'll provide assistance with the media push away from the home and we'll get your in-laws out of their home. news should come out before 9-10am, our time.

i'm going to get ready so i can get in the car... but i'll check email before getting into the car.

thanks,
meg

I should probably leave you alone, but its killing me...

She got the tax... the "experienced" guys didn't

And, shes got them scrambling all over themselves trying to be first with the gas line and add to the economy

I'd love to see Obama arguing with Mulva or Malone!

And all this on the eve of yet another hurricane in the gulf!
