I assume she's aware, but just in case...could someone make sure the gov sees a copy? This went out to all legislators.

Thanks,

RK

Anchorage, AK 99501-2133

Dear President Green and Speaker Harris:

This letter is to provide each of you and other members of the Legislature with a progress update on the Alaska Gasline Inducement Act (AGIA) and the upcoming special session.

We continue to make every effort to meet our previously stated schedule to complete the findings and determination. The commissioners of the Departments of Revenue and Natural Resources still expect to complete their work the week of May 19. We cannot state with certainty what the actual date will be.

Based on feedback we received from legislators, if the commissioners decide to pursue an AGIA license, we will withhold formal transmission of any findings materials to your offices until the special session convenes on June 3. This action will allow the special session to begin on the same day that the 60-day review period begins for the Legislature under AGIA.

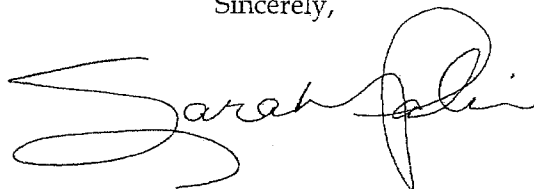

We also will proceed with our three-day presentation of information in Anchorage on May 28, 29, and 30. These sessions are intended to provide a public presentation to the members of the Senate and House in preparation for deliberations in Juneau, and provide an enhanced opportunity for interaction between legislators and AGIA team members and our consultants. The event will be held at the Sheraton Hotel, where we have arranged a block of rooms for legislative attendees. If you have any questions about the format or logistics of this event, please contact Samantha Carroll at the Department of Natural Resources, at 269-8431.

Please feel free to contact my office if you have any further questions. I look forward to working with both of you in advancing the commercialization of Alaska's North Slope natural gas resources.

Sincerely,
