I didn't get my email off to you first before you talked to Bill and as I mentioned to you that I would; I too have talked w/Denise several times and also Ginger and Lyda. So no further action is needed until we can talk. Thanks.

Kris and Todd:

I talked to Bill M. (off the record). He told me that Lyda told him Denise Christopher gave her the news about the "no-veto pledge" from Kris and me. I think it's safe to assume that Denise did not. I'm certainly comfortable trusting her from the conversations I've had with her about it. I asked Bill why he didn't call Denise, and he said he didn't want to put her in the middle of the situation. But he also said he'd be happy to talk to her about it if she wanted to call him. Otherwise, he figured he'd let it drop.

I told Denise that, and she said she was awaiting a callback from Lyda before deciding what to do next. But she did say she got to talk to Ginger and Ginger assured Denise that she did not say anything to Lyda about a no-veto pledge.

It's pretty easy to see in which direction all the fingers are pointing. But I suppose there's enough room for doubt and the possibility that it's all just a big old misunderstanding.

At any rate, rather than trying to do an end-around here, I think a direct confrontation is the best bet to nip this thing now. Would it be appropriate for someone like Tibbles or Russ Kelly to ask Lyda/Ginger about it directly and then clarify for them where we stand?
