Mike,

I received a call from Jack Barber, owner Alaska Air Taxi and a board member on the states aviation advisory board. He called because he received a call from an FAA representative who attended the last aviation advisory board meeting in early August.

The FAA representative expressed to Jack great concern about Deputy Commissioner DOT/Aviation John Torgersons commitment to aviation safety. There's been ten aviation fatalities in the last three weeks, the state cannot have a representative with a weak stance on aviation safety.

If you would please give Jack Barber (240-1033) a call to get a better understanding of the situation and how this may affect the states relationship with FAA.

Thanks Todd
