Your address tomorrow could be a great platform to thank the House for their understanding...let them know you look forward to working with them...it could just be something informal before you begin-kind of a shot over the bow making the other body and their leader look foolish and petty.

Good! This is so wrong. Petty, petty politics at play...which will come back to bite. Said on the news that the reason she is giving is not all will be there in time. How does that make any sense with one hours difference and flight schedules? I like Frank's idea of sending the senate a DVD copy. :)

That's the plan. 6 in the House, then if need be I'm game for a saturday speech too. This is weird.

I really cannot believe this situation. I pray that what the enemy means for evil, will turn out for good.
